Cegos Asia Pacific wins four of the prestigious HRD Magazine Employer of Choice Awards 2015

Singapore, 5 October 2015 - Cegos , a worldwide leader in training and development, has today announced it received four Employer of Choice awards for 2015 in the annual HRD magazine awards. These awards won by Cegos, reflect its commitment to people development and demonstrate its core strength in the implementation of cutting edge HR best practice.

The recognition confirmed Cegos' ongoing investment and effort to create a world-class workplace for its employees. Following the recent acquisition of Integrata (the number one training company in the German market), and the announcement of a new operation in Chile, the awards highlight the company's outstanding expertise in people management.

Cegos is once again recognised, this time by HRD magazine Asia Pacific. This recognition is only awarded to those organisations truly leading the way in people management and systems.

The HRD Singapore Employer of Choice Survey 2015, surveyed employees, associates, partners and collaborators in the search for Singapore's best companies. The survey required participants to rate the organisation across areas such as engagement, career progression and employee wellbeing.

Cegos was recognised with the following four awards :

1. Silver in the Less than 100 Employees category
2. Top Performer in the Quality of Work category
3. Top Performer in the Technology category
4. Top Performer in the Leadership category

These new awards highlight Cegos as a clear employer of choice where empowerment, engagement and ongoing support makes the Cegos workplace attractive for both existing and new recruits. The team has a strong focus on collaboration and innovation and there is an emphasis on open and regular feedback. All Cegos employees work under an open door policy and enjoy the benefit of flexible work arrangements.

This approach to people development is critical for a training company that specialises in the area of people management and again, reflects Cegos' ability to implement the very practices it trains organisations in worldwide.

Jeremy Blain, Regional Managing Director of Cegos Asia Pacific, states:

'Since setting up our new regional HQ in Singapore in 2011, our commitment has centred around people. Our customers and our own highly valued Managers and Staff. We are delighted to be recognised for our efforts and particularly being awarded as Top Performers within the three critical areas of Quality of Work, Technology and Leadership. We have a great blend of effective process, supporting systems and people who are empowered to make decisions and proactively manage their part of the business – whatever their job role. Leadership at any level is the Cegos Asia Pacific mantra and is a key driver for our successes internally and externally with our customers.'
